NEWSPAPER HISTORY
The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1885, and in 1901 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1915.

I hope I shall always possess freedom and virtue to maintain what I consider the most enviable of all titles: an honest man.—Washington.

Up to Feb. 2, after the Panama Canal had been in operation just 13 days, the total amount of tolls received passed the two million dollar mark.

L. H. Magoon of St. Albans drove into Pittsfield with live cedar poles which attracted a great deal of attention as they were hauled up in front of the office of the Central Maine Power Co., where Mr. Magoon received a good sized check for them. Two of the poles measured 40 feet. It is rarely that such perfectly straight cedars are found.

The exports of the United States for January last, show a very material increase over those for January, 1914. The total figures being $14,737,885 for this year as compared with $10,205,564 in January, 1914. The chief increase is shown in raw materials, these exports for January reaching a money value of $5,687,435 as compared with $1,012,318 the preceding January.

East Millinocket is planning on having a big time when the new town hall is dedicated. The Great Northern Paper Co., at its recent annual meeting voted the sum of $10,000 toward the construction of the building. The structure is to be of brick, with ample accommodations for the town officials and a hall which will have a seating capacity of about 600.

Senate Republicans intend to put a larger submarine building program in the pending naval bill, that has been proposed by the House. Senator Smoot Monday introduced an amendment for 50 submarines of sea going type and 25 smaller ones. For the first year it would appropriate $30,000,000. "The European war has made it plain more than any other question," said Senator Smoot, in introducing his amendment, "that submarines are invaluable for defense of coast cities and coast lines. They are the sort of defense we want in this country more than anything else."

A novel method for relieving the suffering of the 200,000 unemployed of New York has been put in operation at the suggestion of Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the Steel Corporation, and Mrs. James Speyer, wife of the international banker, who are serving on a committee of two committees, working to relieve the suffering among workers resulting from the existing industrial depression. The proposal was made that every person in the city who could afford to do so should contribute his day's income toward the relief fund. Some unexpected responses already have been obtained. One of the richest men in the country, figuring his income at $25,000 a day, sent in a check for that amount and a wealthy woman contributed $15,000 as her share. A newsboy who sells papers in City Hall Park turned in 90 cents—a day's proceeds—"to help some other guy in hard luck." The subscriptions quickly ran into six figures and are rapidly increasing. One of the principal uses to which the funds are being put is the establishment of workshops where men and women are given employment at making bandages and other articles which are distributed free to the city's hospitals and charitable institutions.

A PAIR OF SIXES

A Poker Hand Furnishes the Theme for a Great Comedy Coming Here Next Friday.

The attraction at Rockland Theatre next Friday night will be H. H. Frazee's New York comedy success, presented by the original London company, "A Pair of Sixes." The comedy is the story that was selected for the presentation of this "American Made Farce" at Sir Charles Wyndham's Theatre in London, but because of the war had to change its plans. Paul Nicholson, who was several seasons ago the leading role of "The Girl Question," portrays Boggs, the butler. Miss Norton, famous for her impersonations of English Slays, has such a character in the production. The scenic equipment is that of Franklin Dodge, the well known painter of exquisite interiors.

In writing "A Pair of Sixes," Edward Peple deviated from the usual in the selection of characters as well as the theme of his play, giving the principal comedy roles to two young American business partners, who constantly quarrel as to which is entitled to the credit of making the business a prosperous venture. Being unable to settle the matter in any reasonable way, they call their lawyer who proposes a game of show-down poker, the winner to run the business for a year, without interruption, the loser becoming the servant of the winner for a like period. A pair of sixes, held by the senior partner decides the play and from that moment the complications, very real as well as very funny, become unusually rapid.—adv.

COLE OF THE CARIB

Belongs To Famous Seafaring Family—Capt. "Huck" Cole Made Many Trips To Rockland.

Capt. Edgar L. Cole of the steamer Carib, which was sunk by mines in the North Sea, Tuesday, is known in Bangor, by Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Tupper, who are natives of Harrington, Capt. Cole's home town. Details that have come out since the Carib was sunk show that Capt. Cole, who is about 50 years, fully realized the seriousness of the chances he was taking in piloting a ship through the war-infested waters of the North Sea. According to information which has been received from relatives in Harrington, among whom is his sister, Mrs. Bert Colson, Capt. Cole stated to the owners of the Carib, when the matter of selection of a master for the vessel came up, "Now I am a single man, and it will be better for me to take this craft than a man with a family. I am willing to assume the risk." The offer was accepted by the Carib's owners, and Capt. Cole, realizing that he might be deceiving the waters of the North Sea floating on the waves, following a mine or torpedo explosion, sent all his belongings back to his home in Harrington, where they are at the present time.

His fears were well grounded, the steamer striking a mine field that caused an explosion.

Capt. Cole, as far as known, however, is safe in Europe, and will doubtless return to his home safe and sound.

It appears that he comes honorably by his pluck and nerve. He is one of the famous Cole family of Harrington, practically every male member of which is a sea captain, and the family has been represented on the seven seas during the past generation.

Here are a few of the Coles that have the handle of Captain to their names: Capt. Olin C. Cole, Capt. Napoleon Cole, Capt. Alpheus Cole, Capt. Daniel Cole, Capt. Henry Cole.

The pioneer Cole, however, was a mighty man, whose prowess is even now famed among the young men of Harrington and nearby places on the Maine coast. He was old Capt. Hucks Cole, the ancestor of most of the Coles mentioned above. Capt. Hucks Cole was one of the old salt type of sailors, a man of extremely powerful build, a man among men, and always ready for trouble either on land or sea.

Capt. Hucks Cole was the master of a little coaster which carried kiln wood from places along the coast to the Rockland lime kilns. His boon companion, from whom he was rarely separated, was Capt. Ruggles Mitchell, and they were generally spoken of on the coast as "Huck" and "Rug." Generally they were together.

It was a custom of theirs to go to Boston at about the same time, and mix with the crowds along the waterfront. Being sailors, and not averse to taking care of themselves in an emergency, they stood together whenever a squall blew up. If set upon they would defy a whole gang of Boston toughs, and their broad backs together, back to back, would fight off the little fellows with ease. Many an encounter of this kind is related of them, and it is said that they always came out victorious.—Bangor Commercial.

Frank Lovell of Gardiner has made such a success of planting seed potatoes that he found it necessary to get the neighbors to assist him in supplying the demand. Last year he planted 47 acres and this year he is to increase it to 20 acres. Several New York people have been here of recent years looking into the possibilities of the seed potato industry in the Kennebec Valley. Mr. Lovell has one contract, as the result of a visit, for 1485 bushels of seed potatoes for March delivery.

Mrs. John Berry, who supposed that she had sold her lot in Saco to the Treasury Department as a site for the $60,000 Federal building, and later learned that the matter of selecting a site had been reopened, will tear down the beautiful old colonial mansion on the lot, even if the Government does not buy the lot, and will use the lumber in the construction of a six-room flat on the rear of the lot. This will remove one of the finest houses of the old type in the city.

Lobsters Inspire Oratory

The Proposed Nine-Inch Law Provokes Two Days' Battle in the Committee Hearing.

At 7 o'clock Thursday evening every seat in Representative hall was taken. Attorney Frederick W. Hinckley of Portland opened the case for the proponents of the new lobster law, presenting a new draft based on the scientific investigation of the lobster industry and the available information on the natural history of the lobster, especially regarding the propagation of the lobster. The new draft proposes that all lobsters less than 1 1/2 inches in length from nose to the end of the body shell (virtually nine inches over all) shall be of less than legal length, and that all lobsters of more than 1 1/2 inches in length from nose to end of body shell (virtually 13 inches over all) shall be of more than legal length. They will gain in this proportion more weight in lobsters between nine and 10 1/2 inches than they will lose in lobsters over 13 inches long. He exhibited a lobster trap designed to keep out lobsters of more than 13 inches length and to allow the escape of lobsters of less than legal length through the slats.

William T. White of Rockland was the first witness, giving an exposition of the growth of the lobster industry in Maine during the last 20 years. C. F. Simmons of Rockland said that practically all lobsters caught are sold in some way whether of legal length or not. He estimated that one-third of the growth of the lobster industry in Maine is illegal.

Capt. Edwin Chapman of Biddeford, a lobster fisherman, said he had been in the business for 34 years and favors the new law. He said he had caught nine inches of lobsters caught between nine and 10 1/2 inches in length are sold, the larger part of them to Massachusetts fishermen as lobsters of nine inches in length may be legally sold in Massachusetts. He remarked that any lobster with two eyes can be sold to summer residents.

Asked if the new law could be enforced and lobster fishermen prevented from catching lobsters of less than nine inches in length, he declared that he could speak for the whole of York county and say that such a law as the proposed measure could be enforced and many of the lobster fishermen of York county were ready to be sworn in as deputies to help in the enforcement of such a law and a union of the fishermen was contemplated to plan for enforcement.

The opinions differed somewhat on these questions, but the general answer was that lobsters when hungry would go through any hole they can get to get the bait. It was stated that lobsters have been found in traps which had funnel hoops too small to allow the fishermen to force the lobster through the hoop again without breaking the shell. All acknowledged that short lobsters are now generally sold and believed there is no way of enforcing the law at the present time when short lobsters may be sold in Massachusetts.

A. C. McLean explained his experiments with the new type of trap which had been abused by the opposition and seemed not entirely in favor of the fishermen who testified for the proponents of the bill. He said he had caught more large lobsters in the trap with the three and one-half inch funnel hoop than with traps with larger hoops. Later it developed that the lobsters with which he experimented were not at large and it was argued that the opposition that deep water fishing shows different results in the experiments.

M. W. Trefethen of Portland stated that 53 snuckers are engaged in the lobster industry in Maine, 16 of them owned in other states than Maine. He said he knew that 15 out of the 16 traded in short lobsters. Not only do Maine fishermen sell short lobsters to those Massachusetts and New Hampshire snuckmen, but they are obliged to sell them for eight to 10 cents below the price they should receive because they cannot sell them in Maine and the foreign buyers know it and take advantage of the illegality of the catch to purchase at a low price. He believed that the uniformity of the new law with the Massachusetts law was alone sufficient reason for its passage to say nothing of the advisability of saving lobsters over 13 inches long as parents of an enlarged family of lobsters on the Maine coast. Last season from 400,000 to 500,000 short lobsters were sent from Maine to Massachusetts, he asserted.

Capt. Albion Wotton of Friendship, Capt. E. V. Shay, Capt. I. F. Millgate and Capt. Edwin Chapman of Biddeford all favored the new law on the grounds that it was needed in order to secure uniform laws with Massachusetts, it would increase the income of the lobster fishermen, and through the preservation of the large lobsters increase the number of lobsters in length and to allow the escape of lobsters of less than legal length through the 3 1/2 inch funnel hoop for the lobster trap and asked if a lobster would be likely to enter such a small doorway; also if the lobster was shy and afraid to enter a trap which contained live fish.

The opinions differed somewhat on these questions, but the general answer was that lobsters when hungry would go through any hole they can get to get the bait. It was stated that lobsters have been found in traps which had funnel hoops too small to allow the fishermen to force the lobster through the hoop again without breaking the shell. All acknowledged that short lobsters are now generally sold and believed there is no way of enforcing the law at the present time when short lobsters may be sold in Massachusetts.

Later it developed that the lobsters with which he experimented were not at large and it was argued that the opposition that deep water fishing shows different results in the experiments.

A ROCKLAND MUSICIAN

Miss Alice Shaw Rapidly Making Her Way in New York Circles.

One of the busiest of the younger musicians in New York City this winter is Miss Alice M. Shaw, who still calls Rockland "home," although most of her time in recent years has been spent outside of her native State. The Courier-Gazette has frequently noted the progress of this gifted young woman and is glad to be able to add these interesting particulars.

During the month of February, Miss Shaw appeared on the programs of nineteen concerts and musicals and five receptions, in addition to her regular engagements as private coach for a number of singers, and studio accompanist for Sergei Klibansky, the famous Russian vocal teacher.

Among the artists of note whom Miss Shaw has accompanied this season, are Miss Ellen Learned, Miss Jean Vincent Cooper, whose singing made a profound impression at the last Maine Festival, Graham Harris, a member of the New York Symphony Orchestra, Arthur Argievich, the Polish violinist, Miss Alice Eversman and Jerome Uhl of the Century Opera Co., and Miss Lillian Eubank who was with the Metropolitan Opera Co. last season.

Miss Shaw has appeared frequently at private and club entertainments held in the Knickerbocker, Astor, Vanderbilt, McAlpin, Waldorf-Astoria and other famous hotels. Two of the most interesting events in this line were a "Moment Musical" whose list of patrons included Caruso, Amato, Destini, Hempel, Galski and other Metropolitan stars; and a concert and ball under the auspices of a prominent women's club, at which De Segura, the famous baritone, and Mme. Anna Pavlova, the greatest of Russian dancers, were guests of honor. Private receptions at the homes of well known New Yorkers included one given by the Princess Troubetzkoy, and another in honor of Signor and Signora Polacco. By way of variety, Miss Shaw recently appeared in a concert at the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, better known as the "Rockefeller church." An event especially enjoyable to the player herself was a musicale given by the alumni of Newdon, where she met two other Rockland girls, Miss May Walker and Miss Caro Littlefield.

Miss Shaw's advance engagements extended to the first of June, after which she plans to return to her home where she will devote the summer to composition and the preparation of a solo repertoire for next season. Her songs and anthems which appeared last spring have been frequently heard this winter, and the publishers, Luckhart and Belder, are just bringing out an Easter anthem, "The First Day of the Week." Another group of songs, of which several have already been sung in manuscript, had been accepted for publication in the fall.

CROSSED MUSSEL RIDGE ICE

L. E. Fogg Recalls Joshua Thorndike Did It In About 1849.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
I read in your issue of the 15th inst. the story that Mr. Kitt told of crossing the ice from New Haven to the mainland on the ice in 1855. In 1853-4 I was one of the crew of the ship Sea Serpent, and in Shanghai, China, I remember of hearing Joshua Thorndike, the captain's brother, tell the story of his crossing Mussel Ridge Channel on the ice from Thorndike Beach (now Waterman's) to Dix Island. He said what prompted him to undertake it was that he was in the "Keg stores" of Dix Island, and some one remarked that he thought a person could walk across the channel. He said that when he got about in the middle of the channel, the ice would rise and fall with the sea swell. He thought for would be as safe to keep on as to turn back.

I can't place the time but I think it must have been about 1849, as Mr. Thorndike went to California soon after the discovery of gold in California. After my return home from sea I mentioned the incident to my mother, who said, "I remember it well, for I watched him all the way across, and expected to see him go under every minute."

E. Fogg.

In the millinery fields, ribbons continue to be an important factor, says the Dry Goods Economist. Narrow folds and grosgrains are still in the lead, but there is a notable tendency toward the use of fancy flowered band effects, as well as toward the return of wide, plain ribbons. Velvets continue to be liked, both for millinery and for dress decoration. A style feature of interest is the use of velvet ribbon around the wide dress skirts. Brocades in solid colors are confidently mentioned for use as girdles on summer dresses.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Old-fashioned poetry, but choicely good.
—Isaac Walton

Clifton Chapel

This is the chapel, here, my son,
Your father thought the thoughts of youth,
And heard the words that one by one
The touch of life has turned to truth.
Here, in a day that is not far,
You, too, may speak with noble ghosts
Of manhood and the Voice of war.
You made before the Lord of Hosts.

To set the cause beyond renown,
To love the game beyond the prize,
To honor, while you strike him down,
The foe that comes with fearless eyes;
And dear the land that gave you birth,
And dear the light of brotherhood
That binds the brave of all the earth.

My son, the oath is yours; the end
Is his, who built the world of strife,
Who gave his children Pain for friends
And Death for surest hope in life.
Today and here the fight's begun,
Of the great fellowship you're free;
Henceforth the school and you are one,
And what you are the race shall be.

God send you fortune; yet be sure
Among the lights that gleam and pass
You'll live to follow none more pure
Than that which glows on yonder brass:
"God speed him," the legend's writ—
The frontier grave is far away—
"God save him, perchance,"
Sed miles, sed pro patria." —Henry Newbold.

The above poem refers to the chapel of Clifton College, one of England's public schools, which, it is said, Mr. Newbold attended.

Dean's Regulations are recommended by many who say they operate easily, without grating and without bad after effects, etc. at all drug stores.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Rockland, March 2, 1915.
Personally appeared Neil S. Perry, who on oath declares: That he is pressman in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of February 25, 1915, there was printed a total of 4,623 copies. Before me:
J. W. CROOKER
Notary Public.

Rockland has not yet done all that it means to do for the relief of the stricken and innocent people of Belgium. A State of Maine ship is to sail from Portland in a short time taking supplies to those unfortunates and from all over Maine contributions are pouring in. Readers of The Courier-Gazette desiring to contribute should address their packages "Belgium Relief," Care the Gault Warehousing Company, Portland. Boxes or packages marked "Belgium Relief, collect," will be sent from Rockland by freight or express with no cost to the sender. The best supplies for Belgium in the order of their utility are probably about as follows: Flour, unground grain, and other bread stuffs; rice, dried peas, dried beans; condensed milk, preserved meats, such as canned beef, ham, bacon and lard, coffee and tea; blankets. Blankets are generally commanded by the German army in its passage through Belgium. The need of blankets is probably more imperative than that for clothes. While a certain amount of old clothing can be used, it is very much better to send new clothing, no matter how cheap in quality. However, all should bear in mind that food by all odds is the greatest necessity. The people of Belgium can doubtless get through this winter alive with what clothes, fuel and blankets they already have, but they cannot survive without food. Rockland people ought not to let this relief ship sail without having something on board of it.

An anonymous circular, distributed on election day, contained information that rather cut the ground from under The Courier-Gazette's attempt to put Mayor Howard and his road commissioner into a cartoon. The liquor that was removed by them from the city store was destined under proper authority for the local hospital and not, as this paper had been led to believe, for possibly ulterior purposes. We are glad to make this correction, even though it imposes the mortifying necessity of spoiling our first attempt at a cartoon. The Courier-Gazette is able to say that in its long association with political affairs, while it may have made many mistakes and in the heat of debate spoken things that would better have been unsaid, it never with foreknowledge has lied about a political opponent.

To lose a pocket-book containing money is affliction enough, but when there goes with it diary notes that the owner has kept for forty years the burden is redoubled. That is what happened to George E. Brackett of Belfast—somebody took it from his desk—who advertises that if the other papers are returned he'll make no fuss about the money. That ought to appeal to the stoniest heart. What a man, however low down and ornery, should want with another man's notes on the weather for forty years past eludes the imagination.

Friends mailing The Courier-Gazette copies of newspapers will confer an additional favor by marking articles to which they wish attention directed. We are always appreciative of these courtesies and do not wish to miss the point of them, but it takes time to go through the columns of an unfamiliar paper, particularly some of these huge ones that come to hand, and a newspaper office desk is usually a pretty busy spot.

About this time, as the almanac says, newspaper offices begin to receive invitations to purchase a copy of Ayer's Newspaper Annual and Directory. While we do not always yield to them we are always impressed by the direct and gentlemanly appeal of the firm's follow-up system. It is a model to recommend to all concerns, large and small, who do any part of their business through the mails.

The action of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce in opposing the removal of the state prison from Thomaston has been given great publicity by the newspapers of the State, which is exceedingly helpful. The more the people understand the situation the stronger will be the opposition to this extravagant suggestion.

A lady reader of The Courier-Gazette suggests that Rockland ladies might raise a fund and send to Lady Forbes-Robertson, to apply to the meritorious work among the Belgians being done by Miss Maxine Elliott's canal boat hospital.

Nobody can doubt, following what has been going on at Augusta, that the lobster question is of absorbing interest to a large portion of the people of Maine.

Three loud ones for the gallant Republican workers in the seven wards. All honor to 'em.

Mayor By Three Votes

Harrington's Margin Was Small, But Both Branches of the City Council Are Safely Republican—Immense Vote Cast—Many Candidates For City Offices.

Hooley! Hooley! Hooley!
Republicans carried the day.
They carried five wards.
The Phil swore by the gods
That licking them was merely child's play.

In one of the most remarkable political contests ever held in this city, the Republicans yesterday elected Charles M. Harrington as mayor, and secured a good working majority in both branches of the city council.

Mr. Harrington's majority is only three votes, but the result is just as effective as it was a year ago when Mayor Howard spilled the Republican beans with a majority of 13. Four of the seven aldermen are Republicans, and 11 of the 21 councilmen are of that party. This gives a Republican majority of eight in joint convention.

The total vote was nearly 200 larger than last year, and with one possible exception it was the largest vote ever cast at a municipal election in this city. Both parties left no stone unturned. Automobiles flew in all directions, their passengers proudly smoking candidal cigars and fully enjoying the luxury of traveling in state.

On the surface, however, it was a very ordinary election day, with no more drum-heads than is generally seen on those festive occasions, and comparatively little disorder. The only exception which has come to our attention is that it is understood they will be aired in police court.

The Democrats pushed their campaign to the very moment that the polls opened. Unwilling that The Courier-Gazette should have the last word, the Opinion issued a special Sunday edition, attempting to answer some of our mild charges. In order that it might not be known as an Opinion extra the document was headed "Truth." It was read with some little interest and amusement after folks had discarded the comic supplements of the Sunday newspapers.

The intense interest in yesterday's contest was shown by the crowd which surrounded The Courier-Gazette bulletin board as the returns came in. The first report was received from Ward 7 had gone Republican by four. As the ward did the same thing last year this news, while very interesting, did not give much of a line on how the election was going. Next came the Ward 4 result from Frank F. Harding, and at that the Democrats perked up noticeably. Willis Ayer's statement that Ward 2 had gone strongly Republican sent Republican hopes to the highest peak. Thus the news came, alternately buoying Republican hopes and then enveloping them in the shadow of doubt. With Ward 5 still to be heard from Mr. Harrington had an apparently safe lead. The Democrats were known to be making superhuman efforts there, and Republican anxiety was justified when the returns reduced Mr. Harrington's lead to three.

Ward 1 hardly lived up to Republican expectations, but the party gained 21 votes there, and will send a solid delegation to the new city council. This is Mayor Howard's ward and it gave him four majority, while electing a Republican alderman and Republican councilmen. Both parties have some vigorous workers there, and they were all in harness yesterday.

Ward 2 cast its largest vote in many years, and gave Mr. Harrington a majority of 18. Out of the wreck of this once staunch Democratic ward that party rescued an alderman and councilman. The new alderman is Robert V. Stevenson, who has served in the Common Council the past year. The councilman elected by the Democrats is J. E. Drinkwater, who has served in the Board of Aldermen the past year. Their election was made possible by the personal friendship of Republicans.

The net Republican gain in Ward 2 was 24.

Ward 3 did handsomely for its majority candidate, giving Mr. Harrington a majority of 37. As usual that ward will be represented in the city government by a delegation that is solidly Republican.

Ward 4, in which the Democrats were confident of a sweeping victory, showed a net Republican loss of only three votes. Of the 145 votes cast for the Democratic ticket it is said that 96 came from that section of the ward east of Main street where influences were at work which were nowise calculated to inspire Republican success.

Ward 5 was hopeless territory from the start. The Republicans cast three more votes than they did a year ago, but from some source—submarine or aerial the Democrats dug out 42 more than they were able to muster at the polls last March. John I. Snow, the Republican candidate for alderman, ran well ahead of his ticket, but went down in the general wreck.

Ward 6 was a picturesque battleground. After the ward nominations had been made there it was freely predicted that the Republicans would have than 50 to 70 majority. Venus C. Lambert, the Democratic nominee for alderman, was known to only a handful of the voters when the contest started, but he got into the game with a vigor that showed him to be no novice in American politics. His work before the registration board showed more individual energy than that of any other party worker, with the possible exception of Mayor Howard. The result was a tie vote for mayor, and had it not been for the personal popularity of the four young men on the Republican council ticket the Democrats were in a fair way of winning. They made a net gain of 14.

In Ward 7 each party cast seven more votes than it did a year ago, but this time there was no tie vote for alderman. The Republicans captured the whole outfit. This was no small achievement, for the Democrats had their best workers in the battle, impressing into service a former chieftain who has not been over-active in recent years.

Ward 8 was a very close contest. The Republicans carried the ward by a majority of 11. The Democrats carried the ward by a majority of 11. The Republicans carried the ward by a majority of 11.

Ward 9 was a very close contest. The Republicans carried the ward by a majority of 11. The Democrats carried the ward by a majority of 11. The Republicans carried the ward by a majority of 11.

Friday afternoon the opponents of the proposed change in the law put their side of the case before the committee. It was handled by Merritt A. Johnson, who told the committee in opening that his clients opposed the bill because it was impracticable and would force them out of business, if not immediately, then in a short period because it meant the extermination of the lobster.

Practically all provisions of the new law were opposed by the lobstermen as practical fishermen who knew the habits of the fish and what was needed to conserve the supply. That feature which limited the wardens to one county was wrong. The thing necessary was to have them able to work in any part of the State. They should be the detectives of the State with ample authority.

Objection was made to that section which said that no lobster less than 4 1/2 inches long, which is one way of describing a nine-inch lobster, should be canned. While there was a limit to the shortness of the fish, there was no limit as to the extreme length which the canner might use. How differently the law treated the fishermen. He was limited to fish between 4 1/2 and 5 1/2 inches in measure. The length fixed was impracticable. So, too, was the inch ring and the requirement that laths of a trap should be 1 1/2 inches apart. These provisions meant that the lobster fishers of the Maine coast must rebuild their traps at a cost of $1 per trap.

Under the proposed law the wardens must pull every one of the thousands of traps in use along the coast and measure the ring and the space between laths. They couldn't do it, declared Mr. Johnson. The smallest size of a trap should be 1 1/2 inches apart. These provisions meant that the lobster fishers of the Maine coast must rebuild their traps at a cost of $1 per trap.

The wardens are not able to enforce all the laws now on the statutes regarding the lobster; this, too, despite their vigilant efforts. With a law such as was proposed, they could not do as well as at present.

"You have heard theories and theorists," said Mr. Johnson. "You have heard the professor and it is all theory. He couldn't for the life of all theory tell you whether a lobster lives to be 15 or 50 years old. You will now hear the stories of men of practical knowledge; men of actual experience; men 70 years of age, whose entire life has been devoted to lobstering. These men will tell you about the lobster and his habits. They will be practical men who know what they are talking about. They will and do ask you to consider their case and not force them to expend $100,000 just to meet the whim of a few dealers."

L. B. Joyce of Swan's Island, who has fished since 1877, lobstering all but six of those years, told the committee he had never seen an eight or nine-inch lobster which bore eggs. Had seen in all these years but one lobster as small as 10 1/2 inches which bore eggs. This he showed to a smack captain of many years' experience, who had handled thousands of tons of the fish and he said it was the first time he had ever seen so short a lobster bear eggs.

Capt. Joyce examined the traps exhibited Thursday night and declared them worthless for practical fishing. One he said would not hold the lobsters after they got in, the other they could not get into. He was positive that a lobster never entered a trap tail first. They jumped away from danger, tail first. If forced to use these traps, the men would be forced to go out of business, he declared. The smallest size of a trap for a ring or hoop to a trap, said the captain, was 1 1/2 inches. Asked why he was so positive about the habits of lobsters, he said that at one time he was connected with a pound in which they could hold $8,000 lobsters. When the water was shallow he used to spend hours watching and measuring the ring and the space between laths. They couldn't do it, declared Mr. Johnson.

The wardens are not able to enforce all the laws now on the statutes regarding the lobster; this, too, despite their vigilant efforts. With a law such as was proposed, they could not do as well as at present.

"You have heard theories and theorists," said Mr. Johnson. "You have heard the professor and it is all theory. He couldn't for the life of all theory tell you whether a lobster lives from 7.30 until 11 o'clock on the petition for repeal of the law of 1903 creating a close time on lobsters in the waters about Matineus and Cribhaven. Charles T. Smalley was the attorney for the proponents and Merritt A. Johnson for the remonstrants.

The remonstrants contended two months' close time gave opportunity for other pursuits. Lobsters are attracted by bait, as are other fish; hence when the traps are taken out, around these islands, they are tolled to the pots of the visitors who wait in the offing.

Following is the summary of an argument for the proponents: The protected area, a mere speck on the broad Atlantic, is insufficient to contribute effectively to the rehabilitation of this industry, even in the event that a close time is a benefit. Uniform statutes are to be preferred to local laws. This bit of water is surrounded on all sides by open territory, unhampered by regulations of any kind. The law is violated frequently by those who fail to take their gear up until a week after the period begins and by those who, in order to be ready when the law goes off, set their traps a week before close time expires. Lobsters are attracted by bait, as are other fish; hence when the traps are taken out, around these islands, they are tolled to the pots of the visitors who wait in the offing.

It is a debatable question whether these islands do not actually lose fish during the months of August and September because of this outside distribution of bait. A majority of the men engaged in this industry have petitioned for the repeal of this law. Many of them are aged and unable to "loaf" during the two months mentioned. The end of close time finds many of them dressed of their last dollars and sadly in debt. The remonstrants are, in most instances, men financially able to engage in seining operations during the lobster close time, which brings in large returns. It is urged by the opposition that these two months enable them to repair and make gear, etc. Invariably no repairs or new gear is made until two weeks before the close time expires. Plenty of spare time is available to the lobster fisherman at all times, in fact he is constantly replacing gear lost and destroyed and might lose all his traps the first day out, in which event he would require another close time to make repairs.

It is obvious that this close time in August and September fails to accomplish what its authors had hoped for, while working with the limited facts then available concerning the habits of the species. If it has fulfilled their expectations why has it not been generally enacted? If it has failed of any good purpose, why should Matineus and Cribhaven be longer saddled with its onerous ideas?

Dog fish, he said, troubled the lobstermen as much as certain seasons as they did the trawlers. He had never known a lobster to go into a trap where there was a fish. A number of other fishermen addressed the committee and all voiced objections of a similar nature.

Cousins of the late Capt. Lucien B. Keen, additional to those mentioned in our Friday issue, are Col. G. L. Black and Mrs. Mary J. Clark, both of this city.

William H. Hyde, who has served as election clerk in Ward 4 for many years, was absent from his accustomed position yesterday, and in his place was another veteran in the Republican ranks—Oscar B. Blackington.
 A. J. Rawley had the satisfaction yesterday of voting where Republicans are thickest. He is now a voter in Ward 3, this city, the political complexion of which presents a striking contrast to the red-rubber St. George, where he had previously voted.

Edward B. Edwards of Clark Island and Harold Kallech of this city have finished the active business course of Rockland Commercial College. They are the first graduates of the institution since the fire which drove it into temporary quarters.

Three Fims, who created a rumple when denied admission to a house in the linden district, last week, were sentenced to 30 days each in the county jail. A woman of 18, who is already addicted to the use of strong drink, was sentenced to 60 days in jail.
 Before Judge Payson, in Probate Court last week, there was a spirited hearing on the appointment of an administrator of the late J. H. Norwood of Camden. The petitioners for this position were Dr. J. F. Norwood and Mrs. Maud Packard, son and daughter of the deceased.

William E. Brennan of Port Clyde was in the city yesterday with a large open smile and box of cigars. The reason for both is found in our recent announcement that the office of fish commissioner is coming to the extreme southern end of Knox county. Billy hauls from that identical peninsula, and has copied the prize, unless the insiders have got the tip wrong.

Capt. Charles Manning received word Sunday of the death of Charles William Gray, which took place in Louisville, C. B., where Mr. Gray was employed as locomotive engineer. No particulars were given. Mr. Gray was a nephew of Mrs. Manning and made his home with the family during his youth. He was about 45, and is survived by his wife and two children.

Mrs. George W. Shuman has received copies of the San Diego Union from her niece, Mrs. John A. Johnston, formerly of this city. The newspaper, during the month of January, had an attendance of 180,270 persons during the month of January. This is the best first month's record of any newspaper ever held in this country. One of the newspapers devotes considerable space to the arrival of the steamship Grand Northern, including an interview with Mrs. E. K. Leighton of Rockland, who had the distinction of being the first person to land in San Diego from a steamship that had passed through the Canal.

Col. William P. Hurley is presiding over the civil term of Rockland municipal court today, and at the conclusion of that session will step down from the bench and devote his entire attention to governing the Soldiers' Home at Togus and acting as senior counsel for the Democratic party. It may be fairly said of Col. Hurley that he has fulfilled his judicial responsibilities in a manner that few laymen could equal. There are many men who can steer a ship, but comparatively few of them know the difference between a writ of mandamus and a writ of certiorari. Recorder Miller will handle the affairs of police court until the appointment of Col. Hurley's successor, which will undoubtedly be Mayor Howard.

Rev. C. M. Ellinwood, who represents the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion, is in this vicinity, telling the public the story of the league. Sunday morning he spoke at the First Baptist church, this Tuesday afternoon he addressed at 3 o'clock a mothers' meeting at the Congregational church and tonight he speaks at the Baptist chapel. The league is the outgrowth of rescue work among girls begun by a wealthy New Yorker among the unfortunate of that city. He gave to it the name of his daughter who died at an early age. The work is for down and out girls, largely those who are mothers out of matrimony. The league has homes in nearly 100 cities in this country and a few abroad. Mr. Ellinwood is connected with the Boston home, which is doing a great work for New England girls. His story is intensely absorbing. We have had many visitors who arouse us to interest for work among the boys, but Mr. Ellinwood is the first to tell us of the need that is quite as great among girls. These two meetings today are open to the public. Every mother, every woman, in Rockland ought to hear Mr. Ellinwood's graphic and absorbing story.

Bowdoin scholarships have been awarded to James A. Lewis '15 of North Haven and E. C. Moran, Jr., '17 of Rockland—Richard S. Fuller '16 of this city, has been selected for the title role in "Jack Straw," the Ivy play.

Wight Philharmonic Society is temporarily homeless as the result of the Thorndike & Hix fire on school street. Meetings will be held at the Burpee Furniture Store until new quarters can be secured. The Society loses its grand piano, which cost about $1000, and was insured for $375. It will take more than that to blow to dampen the ardor of "the best chorus in the Maine Peninsula."

The registration for yesterday's election was the largest for many years, and possibly in the history of the board. The heaviest registration was in Ward 6, where Candidate Lambert put into his first Rockland contest much of the zest that marks the western election. 17 years ago, an apt familiar. The distribution of the new voters by wards was as follows: Ward 1, 21; Ward 2, 22; Ward 3, 34; Ward 4, 37; Ward 5, 43; Ward 6, 56; Ward 7, 18.

For a long time last Friday afternoon a pint jar of milk stood in the middle of the sidewalk on Beech street, near to Lincoln. Passersby looked at it with curiosity, but nobody picked it up. Even school children, wonderful to relate, went by without hitting it a lick. If anybody can explain the mystery and would like to have the bottle back, with its contents of stale milk, they can do so by telephoning The Courier-Gazette office.

Capt. E. H. Stanton is well acquainted with Capt. Edgar L. Cole of the steamship Carib, whose fate has been in doubt since that craft was blown up in the North Sea. Capt. Cole was his classmate at the Annapolis naval academy. Stanton thinks he has not been this way since that time. He says that Capt. Cole is about 43 years of age. An article on Capt. Cole and other members of that family is published on the first page of this issue, and will interest many local readers.

The Courier-Gazette of Friday had scarcely got onto the street, when the telephone rang and A. I. Mather said, "I am sorry to hear of the loss of your book question—Webster & Hall (Thornton) and Harvey Hall were the first to occupy the middle store. They had a market in the old wooden block which stood on the spot, and when the new block was ready they opened up in it." Mr. Mather is apt to be correct in these matters and probably nobody will want to dispute him.

DODGED A "SPEEDER"

"Brownie" Tyler, Driving Boston Automobile, Injured While Trying to Avert a Collision.

Hector B. son of Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Q. Tyler of this city, figured last Friday night in a Boston automobile accident which narrowly escaped being a tragedy. Mr. Tyler was cut about the head and face, but had no bones broken. The Globe of Saturday described the accident thus:

"Four occupants of an automobile were injured at 11:45 last night at the corner of Boylston road and Peterboro street Fenway, when the driver was forced to swerve far to one side and run his car into a tree, thus avoiding a collision with an automobile driven at a rapid rate by some person unknown."

"The automobile which was forced to turn out of its way that night was the great Ennonwealth Avenue, who, in her absence from Boston, had given relatives the use of it. The driver was Hector B. Tyler of Ferdinand street, and in the car were Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Harris of Beacon street, Richard Waters and Seymour Johnson of Brookline."

"As Mr. Tyler was driving along Boylston road in an easterly direction, he saw the other automobile rapidly approaching him, and occupying the center of the roadway so that there was no room to pass on either side. To escape a collision he swung his machine to the right and ran into one of the trees that line the roadside, ripping off the two wheels on the right side and doing other serious damage to the car."

"The occupants were all more or less cut by broken glass, but none was seriously injured. They were taken to the office of Dr. Charles P. Sylvester, 460 Audubon road, where their cuts were treated, and were then taken to their homes in the automobile of the Back Bay Police Station."

"The driver of the other automobile did not stop to see if any one had been injured by the accident, but continued down the street at a rapid rate."

MR. NEWTON'S LECTURE

Heber A. Ulmer, an enthusiastic Ward 6 Republican was so pleased over the election result that he unfurled a flag at his home on Holmes street.
 Clarence E. Goulding, the contractor, returned last night from a trip in the northern and eastern parts of the State—including Houlton, Bangor, Calais and other places.

Fifty or more Greeks assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Economou on Portland street last night to attend the baptismal exercises of their six-weeks' old daughter. The Greek minister from Biddeford officiated. A fine supper was served.

D. D. G. Master Newbert of the Ninth Masonic District has made the following dates for official visits: Everett Lodge at St. George, March 4; Knox at South Thomaston, March 6; Orient at Thomaston, March 9; Aurora at Rockland, March 10; St. George at Warren, March 15.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held with Miss Clara Farrell March 5 at 2:30 p. m. The meeting will be in commemoration of Mrs. Stevens' birthday. Subscriptions will be taken for the Union Signal, Star-in-the-East, and Young Crusader. A large attendance is desired.

Miss Ethel Jordan of this city died in Mineville, N. Y., last Thursday night, aged 26 years. The funeral will be held at the home of Mrs. William Jordan in Thomaston tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends from Rockland should take the 1:50 car, and will be met by conveyances at Walker's Corner.

The graceful skating contest for couples which takes place at the Arcade next Monday and Tuesday nights, is already causing much discussion, and a number of couples are practicing for the event. Six couples will be selected by popular vote Monday night, and these will compete for two beautiful cups Tuesday night.

On account of the theatrical attraction of the season "A Pair of Sixes" at Rockland Theatre next Friday night, "The Master Key" will be shown once at the Empire Theatre Friday night, starting promptly at 7:30. This will enable patrons who are following this popular serial to see this week's episode and attend "A Pair of Sixes," also, should they so desire. "Master Key" night, this week only, Saturday night at the Rockland.

Miss Edith M. Baylis of the W. O. Jewett Co. has returned from New York where she has been selecting spring millinery.

Tobacco Should be Smoked Up As Soon as it's Cut Up

Real tobacco flavor depends upon the leaf being preserved in its natural state, possible only by pressing the leaves into plug form and keeping it in by covering it with a natural leaf wrapper. The natural flavor and strength of tobacco escape when cut or granulated.

Take a Plug of Sickle that is even thoroughly dried out so that when you whittle it off it crumbles into dust, but it will burn and smoke smooth and cool as it has all of its original tobacco flavor preserved, unevaporated in Plug Form.

Whittling a pipeful is little trouble, amply repaid in both quality and quantity. Try this experiment and judge for yourself.

MAINE LUMBER NOTES

The most extensive tree planting experiment made in the State of Maine for many years has just been entered upon by the Caburn Land, Inc., heirs, says a Farmington special, who will re-plant 50,000 white pine trees upon a portion of the Attean territory, which was so widely devastated by flames in 1908. At that time 10,000 or 11,000 acres were burned. It will probably be one hundred years before the pine will develop sufficiently to produce lumber, and whether more of the burned district will be reset has not yet been determined.

The Langtown Company, which has purchased the township of Langtown from Frank J. N. Barnum of Boston, will cut 10,000 cords of pulpwood a year for a partial supply for pulp mills, in addition to operating in hardwood. Langtown contains 20,000 acres of land and a conservative estimate of its available pulpwood places the amount at over 100,000 cords, as well as much hardwood of the finest quality. The transaction insures the opening of the Eastern branch of the Sandy River & Rangeley Lakes Railroad.

A Bangor special says: Reports from New Brunswick are to the effect that the price of spruce lumber in that province is higher at present than at any time for the past half century. The only drawback is the difficulty in getting tonnage to carry the available lumber to European markets. Freight rates are high, and it is almost impossible to get steamers and the number of sailing craft is very limited. Lumbering conditions in New Brunswick, which were very poor the first of January, have greatly improved during the past week. All reports from the woods confirm the estimates of a considerably larger cut of logs than that of last winter, and a prosperous year for New Brunswick lumbermen is anticipated.

HELP THE KIDNEYS

Rockland Readers Are Learning the Way.

It's the little kidney illness—The lame, weak or aching back—The unnoticed urinary disorders—That may lead to dropsy and Bright's disease.

When the kidneys are weak, Help them with Doan's Kidney Pills.

A remedy especially for weak kidneys.

Doan's have been used in kidney troubles for 50 years.

Endorsed by 30,000 people—endorsed at home.

Proof in a Rockland citizen's statement:

Charles E. Staples, 18 Gay street Place, Rockland, Me., says: "I was having a bad time with my kidneys. I could hardly get around to do my work, in fact, I had to lay off for some time, owing to pains in my back. Sometimes the kidney secretions were profuse, then again the flow was scanty, and the secretions were filled with sediment. One of my relatives advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a supply. I soon found they were helping me and it was not long before I was well. I believe Doan's Kidney Pills are the best kidney medicine on the market, and I advise anyone suffering from kidney complaint to give them a trial."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Staples had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

STONINGTON

The 19th semi-annual meeting of Deer Isle and Stonington Sunday School Association convened at Sunset, Feb. 22, at the Congregational church. There was a very large attendance. The president, Rev. S. C. Eaton, being absent, Rev. O. J. Gupitell took the chair. Devotional service was led by Rev. W. H. Hall, followed by a lengthy program, taking up and discussing the principal topics relating to Sunday school teaching. Some Teaching Mission by Rev. O. J. Gupitell; Decision day by Rev. George Smith; A Model Secretary by Miss Villa Hall; The Right kind of superintendent by Rev. J. H. Waters. A number of other kindred subjects were taken up and remarked upon by Rev. J. E. Blake, C. M. Goss and others.

Afternoon session—Devotional services led by Rev. W. H. Hall. The leading topic, Temperance in the Sunday school, The Boy and the Cigarette, was taken up by Mrs. Annie L. H. Gupitell in a very interesting manner.

Total Abstinence in its various forms led by Rev. J. H. Waters. Rev. Kiefer also took up considerable time with profit.

J. F. West, general superintendent, gave an interesting talk on Sunday school conditions, and finally Rev. O. J. Gupitell closed with the subject: How can we make our District "Front Line" before 1916?

Rev. John E. Blake of Medford, Mass., has been installed as pastor of the M. E. church here January. He reports that the church is fairly prosperous, considering the times; has organized a company of 33 Boy Scouts and is training them for usefulness, and with their assistance is excavating and enlarging the basement for a vestry and making some other changes on the upper floor of the church.

The officers of King Arthur Lodge, K. of P., were installed Monday evening, Feb. 15, by J. F. West, D. G. C., assisted by Frank L. Webb, G. M. A., and J. Thomas Snow, G. P.; Henry B. Smith, C. The North Haven Missionary Society have chosen the following officers for the year: Mrs. Mary A. Mills, Pres.; Miss Gora Ames, Vice Pres.; Mrs. Mary Beverage, Sec.; Miss L. E. Beverage, Treas.; Mrs. Mahalia Webster and Mrs. Gora Ames, Board of Missions; Mrs. Gora Ames, Mrs. Ira E. Beverage and Mrs. Eliza Staples, Program Committee. These officers will be installed at Mrs. Isadore Young's, March 10.

Town meeting is near at hand. Sleep the sleep that knits up the ravelled sleeve of care the night before, and prepare yourself for a strenuous day's session. Forty-eight articles.

The K. P. minstrel last Monday night was a success, both financially and socially, some forty odd dollars being the net proceeds after all bills were paid.

We as members of the K. P. Lodge of North Haven feel that our society is a growing institution, that from it there comes a spirit of friendship and good will which manifests itself in such brotherly acts as the fitting up of Albert Hopkins' wood and the buying and fitting of a cord of wood for Abraham Devoe. The gentleman who is spending a financial standpoint it is helpful in our community. We would encourage those who have not joined to make application to come in with us, to come and see the present and future of brotherly love and friendship exists, toward the betterment of conditions in our village.

News came Tuesday by telephone that C. S. Staples' brother Andrew, who is a resident of Penobscot, dropped dead. Mr. and Mrs. Staples, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Brown, (Mrs. Brown being the daughter of the deceased) left town Wednesday morning to attend the funeral.

The proposed lobster law which is to be introduced at Augusta soon is causing some alarm among the lobster fishermen here. Though the fishermen favor a uniform law with Massachusetts, yet they are strongly opposed to the three pound limit which the law would require. Mr. Staples had, Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Try This! Hair Gets Thick, Glossy, Wavy and Beautiful at Once—Stops Falling Out!

Immediate—Yes! Certain!—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggly, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be that a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

NOTORIOUS OUTLAW DEAD

Frank James Had Lived Quiet Life of Farmer for Thirty Years.

Frank James, one of the last surviving members of the notorious James gang, died on his farm near Excelsior Springs, Mo., Thursday, Jan. 25, at the age of 71 years. He had been in ill health several months and was stricken with apoplexy early Thursday.

The son of a minister, respected throughout the community, Frank James joined Quantrell's guerrillas together with his brother, Jesse, and took part in the sacking of Lawrence, Kansas. After the guerrillas disbanded, the James brothers became bandits during the Civil War.

When the war came to an end they were hunted far and wide by relatives of those who had met death at their hands. Driven here and there, they soon became outlaws. Many notorious crimes of the decade following the war have been laid at the door of the James-Younger gang of which the surviving members were Frank James and Cole Younger, the latter of whom is now living at Lees Summit, Mo.

Defectives surrounded the James home near Kearney, Mo., Jan. 25, 1875, and threw a lighted bomb into the house, thinking to kill the James brothers. It exploded, tearing the arm off their mother and killing their brother Archie.

Although the James boys participated in hundreds of robberies, it is now generally believed that there were also hundreds of robberies charged up to them of which they were innocent.

In 1882, after Jesse James had been shot and killed in his home in St. Joseph, Mo., by Bob Ford, also a bandit, for a reward of $50,000, Frank James surrendered in Jefferson City, Mo. He was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary, but after a few years he developed symptoms of tuberculosis and was pardoned by the governor.

PLEASANT POINT

The hard times do not affect A. F. Moffatt & Son, as they are being rushed with orders from their boat shop.

The young people from this part of the town, armed with guns, horns, cowbells, etc., were at South Cushing one evening recently to participate in giving Eddie Wolton and bride an old-fashioned serenade.

Ernest Maloney has been home from Georges Island for a week's vacation.

Charles Gremmels of New York, while visiting here last summer, went fishing and caught a tenpounder, while only last week Farnham Stone caught a twelve-pounder. Capt. J. O. Chadwick has them both in his possession.

The Grange Sewing Circle met with Mrs. J. C. Staples, as hostess, and were invited to supper, making a party of 40, and everyone had a good time. During the evening while some were so busy serving, others were having an old-time sing. Miss Nellie Wolton presided at the piano. They all departed for their homes at a late hour, declaring Jennie a charming hostess.

TO AVOID CATARRH OR BREAK UP A COLD

Use Hyomee a Simple, Harmless Remedy That Instantly Relieves.

At the first symptoms of catarrh such as sneezing, itching of the nostrils, running of the nose, or that choked-up feeling in the morning, surely take immediate steps to conquer the disease. Catarrh is not only distressing, unpleasant and annoying, but a serious ailment. Delayed treatment frequently causes deafness, and unchecked catarrh surely destroys the health.

One of the easiest, simplest and least expensive remedies to check catarrh and break up a cold is Hyomee, a quick-acting, harmless and most efficient treatment which can be had at any drug store.

Just put a few drops of this anti-septic and healing liquid into the small nostril, and it will soothe, cleanse, soothe and breathe its balsamic and health-restoring fragrance a few minutes four times a day. This medicated air immediately soothes the inflamed tissues, and effectively drives out the poison. Just a few minutes' use of this most helpful remedy opens the stuffed air passages, clears the head and throat of the unpleasant discharges—you breathe freely, and immediately feel better.

Hyomee is so certain to relieve, and give lasting benefit, that W. H. Kirtledge and C. H. Pendleton sell it in the "No-cure-no-pay" plan.

ST. GEORGE

Town Meeting Next Monday Will Have Thirty-five Articles to Consider.

The annual town meeting of St. George will be held on Monday, March 8, but already the people of the town have the record of what has been done the past year under their eye, the printed volume of town reports having been received last Wednesday and distributed. We make a resume of those portions that we judge will be of general interest.

From the report of the assessors we learn that the total valuation of the town is $531,896—real estate $298,858, real estate non-resident $14,943, personal estate resident $68,672, personal estate non-resident $19,998, supplementary $2425. The rate of taxation on estates is two cents on the dollar and that produces a tax of $10,637.92. The tax on polls at $3 each is $1956. Total commitment, $12,593.92. And that was the sum appropriated.

Expenditures: Miscellaneous $2423.47, brownial mouth account $25, Port Clyde town landing $50, support of poor at almshouse $469.74, support of poor in town out town $27.25, common schools $5114.30, of repair of school property $334.80, text books $310.21, school insurance, etc., $17.78, teaching in high school $1200, expense high school $177.73, conveyance $388.80, roads and bridges and sidewalks $1987.94, state aid road $5105.21, Clark Island special road appropriation $297.63, state aid repairs (joint fund) $252.98, clearing roads of snow $254.41, abatements (1914) $275.22.

The liabilities of the town amount to $2651.47, and the resources to $24,130.63. Balance of resources over liabilities, $21,479.16.

Appropriations recommended: Miscellaneous bills and salaries $2400, support of poor $650, clearing roads of snow $300, support of common schools $1300, repair of school buildings $300, text books $200, high school $750, insurance, etc. $150, high school conveyance $375, roads and bridges and sidewalks $1000, state aid road $533, to pay bonds on road $1000, state aid repair fund $150.

The report of the treasurer shows that, starting with $3615.34 cash, the receipts for the year were $20,764.57 and expenditures $22,576.96, leaving a cash balance to the coming year of $1802.95.

From the vital statistics furnished by the town clerk it appears that there were 29 births in the town during the past year—or 30, it depending on whether you call the advent of twins one birth or two; we don't know. There were 12 marriages and 61 deaths.

The town last year authorized the issue of $20,000 of bonds, the proceeds of the sale of which are to be used in the building of state aid roads on the terms of the law of 1913, the bonds to be issued and sold as needed. The roads are to be built under the direction of a commission of which William L. Allen is chairman, and according to the rules and specifications laid down by the state highway department. This arrangement gave the commission resources as follows: Bond issue $20,000, town appropriation $533, received from state $1272.65, due from state $533; a total of $22,688.65. There has been expended during the year $1056.21. Two pieces of state road have been built during the year—one beginning at the corner of the road near the home of Llewellyn Smalley and running in a northerly direction to the road leading to Clark Island, a distance of 9200 feet, or nearly two miles; the other piece on the Clark Island road, about 650 feet. The build-

GAS ON THE STOMACH
When colicky pains accompany the presence of gas on the stomach the need of a gentle laxative to clear away the offending food residue is imperative. If the condition of constipation is not quickly corrected a coated tongue, eruptions on the skin, headaches and back-aches soon show that the poisons have found their way into the circulation. The use of the gentle, laxative pills, Pinkettes, will not only banish these unpleasant symptoms quickly but, if used regularly for a reasonable time, will really correct chronic constipation. Pinkettes contain no poisons or harmful drugs.

Cascara, the Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for free sample or get a full-size, 25-cent bottle of Pinkettes from your own druggist.

STATE CHAT

William G. Perl of North Brooklin, aged about 85 years, cut his firewood unaided this winter.

Calais is to have another candy factory, to be operated on a large scale, the industry to materialize this spring.

Charles G. Pinkham of Boothbay recently displayed a web-footed rooster. The rooster had two toes on each foot almost completely webbed.

Bar Harbor has inaugurated a citizens' movement for control of municipal affairs, and advocates a board of seven selectmen, two members of which shall be members of the summer colony.

Pew men in Hancock county have served their towns longer and more faithfully than J. D. Remick of Trenton, who on Monday completed his 27th term as member of the board of selectmen.

Ralph W. Knowlton of South Strong recently sold to Charles A. Gould of West Farmington fifty large pine trees which are estimated to scale 60,000 feet. Some of them are more than four feet in diameter.

The timber on the 4000 acres of land owned by the York Manufacturing Company, part of which is in Saco and the balance in Old Orchard, will be cut. It is expected that some years hence cotton mills will be built there.

The Wasscokeag Woolen Company of Dexter has completed the manufacture of 48,000 yards of cloth for English army uniforms. The plant has been working day and night for several weeks on these goods.

A Bangor man who has returned from Aroostook county, says the loss from low prices on potatoes will reach three million dollars. The starch factories are paying only 25 cents a barrel, and the farmers can get only 35 and 40 cents.

Clyde H. Smith and Frank Parkman of Skowhegan have invented a detachable pipe, consisting of an automobile pump. The device mentioned is applied to the fire valve and it cannot jump off under pressure, the pressure clamping it more securely, but it is instantly released when the inflation is complete, so it is claimed.

Bangor merchants have but little love for the Canadian $10 bills, when tendered for 10 cent sales. The reason lies in the fact that the banks will allow only $9.90 for them when deposited, so when presented for a 10 cent purchase the customer receives in return only $9.80, at which he fails to enthrone the bank. To trade there any longer, Canadian bills of small denomination pass for their face value in most places.

The Penobscot Bay Electric Company is getting ready to develop the power at Sherman's lower mill in East Belfast, which the company has owned for some years. A dam will be built there and the water carried to the lower power house at tide water, where the present power house is. Power will be developed there with a new unit of about 600 horse-power. The old wooden mill will be torn down and a new one of brick and cement built. The work will be completed early.

A handsome new dormitory has been completed at Higgins Classical Institute to replace the building burned Jan. 7, 1913. The building, while arranged somewhat differently has the same number of rooms. It is divided for boys' and girls' apartments and the boys' part is equipped with shower bath. Harold Fogg, steward of the old Tibbets hall, has had full charge of the construction and will serve as steward of the new building. It will cost about $20,000, most of which was contributed by friends.

HEADACHE, COSTIVE, BILIOUS, "CASCARETS"

Sick Headache, Bad Breath, Sour Stomach, Measly, Lumpy Bowels Are Clogged—Cheer Up!

Get a 10-cent box. A headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and food, heartburn, constipation, flatulence, torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascarets tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. The work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

LIBERTY

Mrs. Wynan Tibbets is at work for Mrs. F. Leight.

Joseph "Buck" Lane fox has again disappeared and is at large.

S. T. Overlock has gone out of business in his shop and has all of his machinery with engine for sale cheap.

Royce Bartlett has gone to Augusta. Mrs. Fred Cunningham of Jefferson has been in town.

Leonard Fuller has just finished a fine set of sleds for B. B. Sukkoff at his machine shop.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Overlock, John Overlock and Mrs. Harlow Flanders were guests of O. B. Fuller and wife Saturday week.

Allen Ripley has lost a horse. The warm days and recent rains have about ruined the sledding.

Mrs. S. T. Overlock is knitting for a New York firm at $3 per dozen.

Elden Rhodes is confined to his bed with symptoms of blood poisoning caused by removing a pimple on his leg and getting cold in it.

The dairymen throughout York county are interested in the effort being made to improve conditions in the western part of Maine. Two dairy testing associations have been organized and these associations will before long employ testers and adopt up-to-date methods, looking toward the improvement of their stock and milk products.

SICK CHILDREN MADE WELL

Every mother likes to see her children the picture of health and vitality.

I find that the stomach is a source of constant trouble to some children and there is a constant need of some safe remedy. A disordered stomach, too, frequently breeds worms, either stomach worms or pinworms.

You can absolutely depend upon Dr. True's Elvir to expel worms and tone up the stomach, bowels and general health.

Dr. True's Elvir, the discovery of my father, has been on the market for over 60 years. That's proof of its efficiency. Get the time-tried Dr. True's Elvir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. Good for adults also. At your dealer's, 35c, 50c and $1.00. Advice free. Special treatment for tape-worms. Send for book.

GLENCOVE

A lengthy and instructive program was presented to a well-filled house at the Social Center Friday evening. Mrs. Emma Rankin of Rockland told a narrative "A Visit to Longfellow's People," which was interspersed with lines from "Hiawatha." Rev. J. Edward Newton of Rockland lectured on "The Perils of Democracy." In the debate which followed, power house Gregory demanded a remedy for some of the perils, and a Glen Cove lady who resides on Oak street that "Woman's Suffrage" was the most powerful remedy to be had. J. H. Ogier, editor of the Camden Herald, gave an address on "You and I, and Our Schools." It was divided into three parts as follows: Preparation, Co-operation and Backer-upation. The last named word was coined in Camden, but brought out the idea better than anything found in Webster's. Chapter Attorney Henry L. Wilcox of Rockport spoke on the "Present National Policy," and highly commended President Wilson. More or less remarks were made by members of the audience after each of the addresses. A mandolin solo with organ accompaniment was given by the Misses Maxey, and Mrs. J. E. Newton of Rockland sang three songs in the Hawaiian language, playing an accompaniment on a ukulele. The closing attraction was a play, "No Man Wanted," given by Miss Evelyn Davis, Miss Audrey Condon and Miss Shirley Glidden of Rockland. It was under the management of Miss Gwendolyn Perry. A new light has been added to the equipment of the room; also three curtains for use in the entertainments. At the next meeting a part of the program will be a lecture on conditions in Mexico by Rev. W. L. Pratt, and a map talk on the Panama Canal by H. Webber Rooney.

Rev. Howard A. Welch of Rockland preached at the schoolhouse Sunday. His subject was Christ's words to Nicodemus, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God," found in the third chapter of John. Next Sunday at 1:30 o'clock the services will be in charge of the Salvation Army.

In Social Circles

In addition to personal notes recording departures and arrivals, this department especially desires information of social happenings, parties, musicals, etc. Notes sent by mail or telephone will be gladly received.

The mothers' meeting which is to be held at 3 o'clock this Tuesday afternoon at the Congregational vestry and addressed by Mr. Ellinwood of the Boston Home of the Florence Crittenton League is open to the public and every woman in Rockland is interested. If they knew the value and interest of the speaker's story the room would be thronged.

Mrs. W. B. Miles is confined to her home with pneumonia.

Miss Lucie F. Winslow who has been spending the past month at her Rockland home, returned this morning to Concord, N. H.

Miss Ada Perry is in New York for the millinery styles. She will then return to Portsmouth, N. H., where she will again be employed this season.

Mrs. W. A. Holman and daughter were guests last week of Rev. and Mrs. V. O. Holman at Ingersham Hill. Miss Mildred Dow and Mildred Simmons are having a vacation from Haverhill.

Miss Bessie Southard is home from Boston on a week's visit.

Mrs. Frank Robbins has gone to Brewer, called there by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Colby Eldridge, a former resident of this city.

Mrs. Karl B. Sturgis, formerly Miss Alice Fiske, was operated upon for appendicitis last Thursday at the Augusta city hospital, where her condition points to a speedy recovery.

S. A. Burpee of Burpee & Lamb, lately on the hospital list, is gradually resuming his duties at the store.

Among those who came to attend the funeral of the late Clarence E. Hall, aside from members of his own family, were Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Simmons of Appleton, E. G. Simmons of Union and Frank Keene of Belfast.

Mrs. Eva M. Rhodes is visiting her daughter in Allston, Mass.

John Tyrrell, traveling salesman for Coca-Cola, was accompanied on his Rockland trip last week by his wife, who is a Lewiston lady. "Jack" has lots of friends among the trade.

Walter Morton is quite ill at his home, 47 James street.

The Highland Men's League is expecting a jolly good time tomorrow night. One of Ben. Perry's famous Double X entertainments is the way they advertise it.

Mrs. Charles Stone and son Charles of Port Clyde were recent guests at Silas Robinson's.

The Rubinstein Club met Friday afternoon with Mrs. F. M. Shaw, Middle street. A paper on "Schumann-Schubert" was given by Mrs. Adelaide Bird. The program:

A special rehearsal for the Cantata will be held at the home of Mrs. Lillian Copping, Limerock street, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, March 5. A large attendance is desired.

Mrs. L. C. Andrews recently visited in Newcastle, the guest of Mrs. D. W. Hennessey.

There will be an entertainment in connection with the circle supper at the First Baptist church tomorrow night.

An Atlantic (Mass.) paper of last week contained this personal note: "A most enjoyable gathering was that which occurred on Sunday last, the occasion being the 55th anniversary of the birth of Mrs. George F. Thomas, of Rockland, Me., who with Mr. Thomas has been spending the winter with their daughter, Mrs. S. E. Orr of Sagamore avenue. Among relatives at the luncheon were two daughters, Mrs. E. F. Parker and Mrs. S. E. Orr; six grandchildren, all of Montclair; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harmon and two children of Nashua, N. H., these with other guests making seventeen to partake of the many goodies that mother and daughter have to make. May Mrs. Thomas be spared to enjoy many anniversaries of St. Valentine's Day and be enabled to have gathered around her on each recurrence of her birthday no lessening number of relatives and friends."

The Harmony Club meets Wednesday with Miss Helen Webb, Reader, Helen Spear; piano, Frances Paladino; solo, Margaret Kallech.

Edward B. Gonia of Boston is in town a few days on business.

J. H. Flint observed his 84th birthday last week, and friends remembered him with a postcard shower, for which sentiment he is very grateful.

You Will Simply Love It

It is sure to incite your admiration. The Modart has received more praise than any corset we ever carried.

Style, Comfort and Quality—the three corset requisites—are gloriously embodied in the Modart. No other corset we know offers as much for the money.

You cannot fully comprehend the quality of the Modart without seeing and comparing it. Do this please.

You will appreciate our recommendation.

ROCKLAND FIREMAN DIES

John Minihan, injured at Thorndike & Hix Fire, Victim to Pneumonia.

John Minihan of the James F. Sears Hose Co. died at Knox hospital Sunday night of pneumonia, contracted in connection with his accident at the Thorndike & Hix fire on School street the previous Tuesday morning.

The Sears Hose Co. remained on duty until 9 a. m. As it was about to "limber up" Mr. Minihan climbed from one of the windows of the Littlefield law office onto what he supposed was a ladder from the ground. Instead he grasped a ladder to one of the upper stories, his hands slipped, and he dropped onto the icy sidewalk.

At Knox hospital it was found that no bones had been broken, and he seemed in a fair way of recovery until pneumonia set in. Mr. Minihan died about midnight Sunday.

He had been a member of the Sears Hose Co. many years, and was counted one of its most faithful and efficient workers. He was 38 years of age, and is survived by one sister, Maggie.

But few fatal accidents have occurred in the Rockland fire department. One of which everybody has heard was the death of James F. Sears at the Commercial House fire in 1829. About 10 years later a fireman named Perry died from burns received at the Bee-thoven hall fire. He belonged to the old Drigo company.

The flag on the city building was at half-mast yesterday in honor of Mr. Minihan.

Funeral services will be held at St. Bernard's church tomorrow at 10 a. m. The offices in the city building will be closed at that time as a mark of respect. The board of aldermen passed resolutions in his honor last night.

CLARENCE E. HALL

Funeral services of the late Clarence E. Hall, whose death was announced in our Friday issue, took place Friday afternoon from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Clarence A. Packard, Pleasant street. Gen. Berry Lodge, K. of P., which had received the body on its arrival from Boston, had charge of the services. Rev. W. L. Pratt of the First Baptist church officiated. The many floral tributes included handsome set pieces from the Knights of Pythias, Modern Woodmen and American Express Co. Beautiful flowers were sent, also, by Boston friends. The flowers were arranged by Mrs. M. R. Pillsbury. Mrs. Elmer C. Davis and Mrs. B. B. Smith. The pall-bearers were members of Gen. Berry Lodge. The interment was in Ashmont cemetery.

Mr. Hall died last Wednesday forenoon in Dr. Christian's private hospital, Boston, where he had been receiving treatment the past five weeks. His health had been failing rapidly since last October, and Christmas day was the last time that he was able to be out.

The deceased was born in St. George, N. S. W., the son of Andrew J. and Sarah S. (Keene) Hall. When he was eight years old the family came to Rockland, where in his younger days Mr. Hall was a successful trainer of horses and colts. Subsequently he was employed as clerk by his brother-in-law, C. A. Packard, and as driver for the American Express Co. Four years ago he moved to Boston, where he was conducting a large lodging house at the time of his death. Mr. Hall was a member of the Knights of Pythias and Modern Woodmen. He possessed a wide acquaintance throughout the county, and his friends were unlimited.

Mr. Hall is survived by his wife, whose maiden name was Hattie E. Wiley; one daughter, Mrs. Irving Gamble; one son, Matthew W. Hall of Boston. He is also survived by his mother, two brothers, Walter T. and Maynard F. Hall of Virginia; and two sisters, Mrs. C. A. Packard of Rockland, and Mrs. Fred A. Healey of Winthrop, Mass.

Interment in the Satilla's present voyage is enhanced by the fact that Win-thamston residents are anxiously awaiting the return of two steamship captains from that town who are bound to German ports.

Capt. Frank P. Robinson is commander of the steamship Satilla, which sailed from Charleston, S. C., Jan. 31, for Bremen, with a cargo of cotton. The passage was expected to occupy about 25 days and his non-arrival has become a matter of deep concern to the family and friends.

The Satilla is operated by the Southern Steamship Company, and generally runs between New York and Texas City. The present voyage is not the only one that Capt. Robinson has made on this craft.

Last April he carried United States troops to Mexico, and in the hold was $500,000 of Uncle Sam's gold, besides a large number of horses and mules.

Three winters ago the Satilla encountered head winds on her passage from Sabine, Tex., and finally reached Portland Harbor covered with ice and badly battered. Capt. Robinson had been on the bridge continuously 48 hours.

Has Talked With the Dead

Sir Oliver Lodge, Noted Scientist, Declares That He Knows Our Friends Continue To Exist.

Sir Oliver Lodge, one of the foremost living scientists in his presidential address to the British Association for the Advancement of Science in September, 1913, called the attention of his fellow workers to some of the claims of psychical phenomena upon them. He has recently taken a still more advanced stand, asserting in clear language that he has talked with the dead.

What if it is true? If it is true, and if the saints and prophets of all times have not been deceived, but have gathered something of the real truth and set it forth to us? It is a possibility; it is, I believe, a fact. If it is a fact, what a vista it opens up! If God really does exist, does communicate with man, does help him; if man is not alone in the universe, a helpless being on this out-of-the-way planet in space, but is surrounded by an army of helpers and sympathizers; if he is assisted by the very highest in his efforts toward truth and goodness, then I say the conception is a magnificent one.

If it be true, it must eclipse all other truths in importance. For this is not a little universe; it is an extraordinarily great and serious universe, and if a thing is true it is not half true; it is true in its entirety, and sometimes not true, according to our perception of it; it is true all the time if true at all.

The same physics and chemistry are found in the most distant stars. The universe is one. Man does not dominate the universe, does not even understand it. He is groping his way in it and finding out things about it.

How old is science? A very few centuries. A great deal of our science developed in the nineteenth century. One century—what is that? This is no time to deny; the thing is to explore and find out what is. What is there all the time, whether we deny it or not; it makes no difference to the universe whether we deny it or not; it may make some difference to ourselves.

I tell you that the imagination of no poet yet has ever come up to reality, and never will. Your imagination may run riot and be false, but they cannot be grander than reality. You cannot conceive things beyond that which God has conceived, and which He has brought into existence. We are always and the truth better than the best you can imagine. It is inevitable.

It is a parable quite interesting to us that the lower animals live among us and know nothing about us. I tell you that these are higher intelligences to which we are as the ants. We creep about, as it were, among the feet of higher intelligences about which we know nothing. We are not anybody alone, but mind, consciousness, and soul as well. With some of those higher intelligences man has intercourse and connection through channels other than those of the bodily organs; and with them he sometimes feels more at home than he does in this material region in which for the present he has to live.

The spiritual and the material interact; they are not far apart; they are much closer than we know. Mind and consciousness are not limited to the brain. That is an extraordinary doctrine that people have—that the brain is the mind. Why do they think that? Because if you destroy the brain your mind appears to go. What goes? Not your mind really out of existence. Your consciousness is still there, but it can no longer manifest itself, for it has lost its instrument of manifestation.

You can take a hammer and smash an organ, but you have not destroyed the organism. Of course, you can smash the organism, too, but in the case of the soul of man you cannot get at the organism. You can only smash the organ and thereby prevent any manifestation.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If Tongue Is Coated or If Cross, Feverish, Constipated Give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit-taste," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly set forth. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

NORTH HAVEN FARMER

He Offers Some Suggestions To His Brother Agriculturists.

Brother farmer, what have you been doing all those long winter days and nights? Cheer up—make your plans now for the spring. Fix up those plows, hoes, rakes, etc. Don't wait until you need them.

Don't forget to have those sleds fixed up and pointed when you are done using them. Also put them under cover for the summer.

Boom your State, boom your county, boom your city or town. Make this the banner year of all years.

Don't leave your tools in the field but have a place for them where they can always be found.

Do you need any new whiffletrees? Now is a good time to make them. What have you got for your spring work with? Have you got something that is more dead than alive, or something up and doing like your neighbor's?

Let him have a few hens to set—something to take up his mind and get him interested. Don't let him leave home and go to the city.

Is the community you live in a prosperous one? If not, why don't you try and make it so? Don't go around all discouraged and knocking the place. Boost it.

MARITIME MATTERS

The South American Trade Continues to Give Fat Charters.

Schooner Phineas W. Sprague, previously reported as springing a leak off Cape Lookout, is now at Charleston for repairs. Her damages are not serious.

The five-masted schooner Marcus L. Urann, is the latest big fore-and-aft to receive a charter for the South American trade, which is just now attracting many vessels of this type. The withdrawal of British and German steamers from this trade has given schooners an opportunity to get a share in this business, and all this is due to the fact that the big steamers have been paid high rates. Several have received as high as $60,000 yearly, with a clear profit of $45,000. The Urann will load coal at Norfolk to Buenos Ayres, Argentina, and will return to Boston with wool, hides and quebracho. The five-masted schooners Van Allen Boughton and Fannie Palmer are also under charter, each receiving over $5000 per month for 12 months. Fourteen other big schooners of the four and five-mast type have received South American charters within the past three weeks.

The coast guard cutter Mohawk arrived at Delaware Breakwater Sunday from the wreck of the five-masted schooner Elizabeth Palmer of Boston, and reported the schooner's position as three-quarters east magnetic from the wreck of the schooner, a mile and a tenth distant from the buoy. A red lighted buoy marks the wreck. Capt. Garden of the Mohawk said that the Palmer is held by her anchors and lies on her side awash in less than 11 fathoms with but one mast standing. Capt. Garden attempted to mine the Palmer, but found the seas too high. He declared that he would repeat the attempt as soon as weather conditions permitted.

Capt. George A. Carlisle of the five-masted schooner Dorothy Palmer is held blameless for the collision of the schooner with the steamer Limon off Peaked Hill Bar Dec. 28, in the findings of the United States inspector, Chief Officer Reginald Rose of the Limon, who was on the bridge at the time of the crash and was in charge of the navigation of the steamer. Carlisle was found guilty of negligence and his license was suspended for three months. The schooner is being repaired at Bath.

FOUND NEW SHOALS

Government is Preparing Up To Date Charts of Penobscot Bay.

The United States Department of Commerce has learned that a number of new shoals have been located off eastern Maine, especially in the vicinity of Matineus island in the outer approach to Penobscot bay. Work in recharting sections of the coast has been in progress for some time. An area of 114 square miles was dragged in Penobscot bay and a number of new shoals were found. "The principal result of the work," says the current statement from the department, "was to show that a large area of the bottom is free from obstructions and that shoal areas are more extensive and generally of less depth than has been shown on the charts."

"Investigations were made in Matineus harbor and its approaches, as the result of local information, and a number of shoals were located, the most important of which are a ledge known as White Rock in the north approach and several rocks off Wheaton's island." An area of over 22 square miles had been recharted within the past year in Portland harbor. Examinations were likewise made in the approaches to Rockland harbor, all of which is calculated to provide very up-to-date charts before long for ships plying between the Maine coast and for ships that enter the State's principal harbors.

OUCH! RUB BACKACHE, STIFFNESS, LUMBAGO

Rub Pain From Your Sore, Lame Back With A Small Trial Bottle of Old "St. Jacob's Oil."

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and neck and ease. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacob's Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll be sure that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

TWO GOOD RECIPES

Boston Newspaper Gives Prize for Rockland Woman's Ideas.

The Boston Journal is paying $1 each week for the best recipe contributed by one of its readers, and a similar sum for the best suggestion for a household economy. Mrs. Charles Merritt of Rockland was one of the recent winners and the Journal publishes two of her recipes, which we reproduce:

Meat Souffle

One cup milk, one tablespoon flour, one tablespoon butter, salt, pepper, one egg, chopped onion, meat, two eggs. Make cream sauce of butter, flour and milk, stirring until smooth; stir in beaten yolks of eggs; remove from fire; add chopped meat and stiffly beaten whites, put in buttered baking dish and bake in moderate oven about twenty-five minutes.

Five-Egg Angel Cake

Whites five eggs, three-quarters cup powdered sugar, one-half cup flour, one-quarter teaspoon cream tartar, one-quarter teaspoon vanilla. Sift flour, sugar and cream tartar together five times. Beat whites very stiff. Fold in dry ingredients; vanilla. Bake about thirty minutes in unbuttered angel cake tin. Have a moderate oven.

Growing Children

frequently need a food tonic and tissue builder for their good health.

Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion

containing Hypophosphites is the prescription for this.

STATE LEGISLATURE

Committee Stands Ten to Two in Favor of New Prison—Two Temperance Reports.

Majority and minority reports, respectively favoring and opposing the passage of an act to refer to the people the question of the purchase of land and the erection of a new State Prison, were submitted in the Senate Friday by the members of the State Prison committee. The majority report, that the act ought to pass, is signed by four Republicans and four Democrats; the minority report that the act ought not to pass is signed by two Democrats. The signers of the majority report are Senators Chittie of Hancock and Fulton of Aroostook, and Representatives Ellis of Gardiner and Tobey of Elliot, Republicans, and Senator Duntion of Penobscot and Representative Lewis of Lewiston, Brown of New Sharon, and Lord of Ellsworth, Democrats. The signers of the minority report are Representatives Fossett of Portland and Walls of South Thomaston.

A favorable report was returned in the House by the committee on salaries and fees on the act to increase the pay of the Governor from $3000 to $5000, and to give him the right to live in Augusta and devote his entire time to the duties of his office. This act cannot apply to Gov. Curtis, as the constitution provides that the salary of a Governor may not be changed during his term of office.

The committee reported "ought to pass in a new draft" on the act fixing the compensation of the members of the Legislature and the Governor's Council. By a new draft each member of the Senate and House is to receive $400 a session and $2 for every 10 miles of travel once in each session, and the members of the Governor's Council shall receive the same pay as the members of the Legislature. A new draft reported by the committee would increase the salary of the insurance commissioner to $2400 per annum.

The committee on temperance will present two reports on the bill of Representative Edgar F. Fossett to permit druggists to sell intoxicating liquor for medicinal purposes, and for the arts. The majority report, which will be signed by eight members of the committee, Senators Boynton of Lincoln, Thurston of Oxford and Herick of Franklin, and Representatives Brown of Auburn, St. Clair of Calais, Bragdon of Westbrook, Russell of Alfred and Allen of Machias, is "ought not to pass." The other two members of the committee, Messrs. Fossett of Portland and Brann of Bradley, will present a minority, "ought to pass in a new draft," the new draft complying to some of the requests made by the Maine Pharmacists' Association. It is understood that the new draft will be of the most drastic nature.

The committee on temperance will report "ought not to pass" on the Flattery bill to place cider in the same class as beer, whiskey, or any intoxicating liquor.

The favorable report of the labor committee on the 54-hour bill, was taken from the table by Representative Fay Friday and assigned specially to next Wednesday.

The committee on Fees and Salaries has voted "ought to pass in a new draft" on the act equalizing the salaries of the clerks of courts. The salary of the Knox county clerk, Tyler M. Goombs, is not changed by this act. He receives $1300 per year, and made no request for an increase, although the act provides that the position entitles one to better pay.

The committee on Agriculture reported "ought not to pass" on the act requiring that the live stock sanitary commissioner shall be a veterinary surgeon.

MILLIONS OF CHRISTIANS

Membership of Religious Bodies Increased 763,078 Last Year.

The religious bodies of the United States have no cause to be discouraged over the results of the year 1914. The new communicants or members added made good the losses by death, expulsion or withdrawal, and left a surplus of nearly three-quarters of a million. That is, the total membership is 763,078 greater than it was in 1913. This is an average increase of two per cent for all bodies, great and small, Christian and non-Christian. Elaborate statistical tables prepared by Dr. H. K. Carroll, and issued by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, show in detail the gains and losses of the year.

The grand total of members is now 38,708,149. All the larger denominations share in the increase. Baptists gained 126,257; Eastern Orthodox Churches, 26,500; the Roman Catholic Church, 136,850; the Lutherans, 56,218; the American Evangelical Synod, representing the State Church of Prussia, 29,315; the Methodists, 231,400; the Presbyterians, 36,019; the Protestant Episcopal church, 28,641.

The Protestant Episcopal church has increased the million line, having gained 85,468 since 1910, and over 300,000 since 1900.

The Roman Catholic church has gained nearly a million and a quarter since 1910 and more than five and a half millions since 1900.

The Methodist Episcopal church, the second largest denomination, gained 187,487 in 1914 and nearly 700,000 since 1900.

The thirty churches, constituting the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, report nearly 17,500,000 members, somewhat less than half of the aggregate for all denominations, with 103,000 ministers and nearly 120,000 churches. These bodies have a net increase of over 500,000 members, or more than two-thirds of the entire increase of all bodies.

There are nine denominations which have a million and upward, the Roman Catholics, 33,794,637; the Methodist Episcopal, 2,603,225; the Southern Baptist, 2,592,217; the National Baptist (colored), 2,018,868; the Methodist Episcopal, South, 2,005,707; the Presbyterian, Northern, 1,432,498; Disciples of Christ, 1,283,163; the Northern Baptist Convention, 1,238,323; and the Protestant Episcopal, 1,015,238. These seven denominations aggregate over 29,000,000 members, or more than three-fourths of the entire aggregate of the 170 religious bodies.

The effects on church membership of the European war in narrowing the stream of immigration were probably quite small, as only the last five months of the year were involved. The emigration of men to take part in the great conflict would not be a very large factor for the same reason. The German bodies—Lutheran, Reformed, and the representative of the Prussian State

BEHIND the humor in this drawing we can read a little MORAL. Many folks are as SOFT as the snow man when the SUN of PROSPERITY beams down on them. They hold up a thin umbrella of GOOD INTENTIONS and cry: "See; we are playing safe. We're not spending more than we make." But the cloud SUDDENLY hides the sun. They are left a shapless, melted mass. Then they are SORRY they didn't contract a steady, thorough BANKING HABIT.

Church, all show unusual gains for 1914. On the other hand, Roman Catholic gains are quite small.

The total increase of ministers was 3212, which is unusual, a large, while the total increase of churches was 141, which is unusually small.

Mistaken Diagnosis—Doctors Guess Wrong Again

About five years ago I wrote to you that I had been a terrible sufferer from kidney and bladder troubles, and that my physician informed me that my left kidney was in such condition that there was no hope for my recovery. I was advised to try your Swamp-Root as a last resort, and after taking four fifty-cent size bottles, I passed a gravel stone which weighed ten grains. I afterwards forwarded you this gravel stone. Have had no return of any trouble since that time and cannot say too much in favor of your wonderful preparation, Swamp-Root, which cures, after physicians fail.

Very truly yours,

F. H. HORNE,

Route 3, Box 30, Rosboro, N. C.

Personally appeared before me, this 31st day of July, 1909, F. H. Horne, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

James M. Hall,

Notary Public.
